Laserfiche's electronic document management solutions complement Your Silver Bullet's goal of harmonizing software integration within the financial services industry

Long Beach CA, July 9, 2007 -- Laserfiche®, an electronic document management solutions (edms) firm, announced today it has become a member of Your Silver Bullet LLC (www.yoursilverbullet.net), an organization dedicated to promoting software integration within the financial services industry.

Launched in February 2007 by Greg Friedman and Ken Golding, principals of CRM Software, and Brenda Herrington, principal of Organization Directors, Your Silver Bullet's membership has rapidly grown to 20 financial services technology providers, who offer operational software solutions for customer contact management, portfolio management, document management, financial planning, account aggregation, consulting, and other services. Laserfiche, the only electronic document management solution member of Your Silver Bullet, offers Registered Investment Advisors (RIAs) and Registered Representatives of independent broker-dealers, state-of-the-art solutions for creating paperless back-offices and sophisticated document storage-retrieval systems that integrate seamlessly with other financial services software.

Friedman, one of the founders of Your Silver Bullet, said, "Electronic document management is becoming increasingly important to financial advisors as their businesses grow because it allows them to increase services to clients and control costs, especially for regulatory compliance tasks." Friedman added, "We are thrilled to welcome Laserfiche."

Chris Wacker, Senior Vice President of Business Development at Laserfiche, said, "We are committed to providing relevant, innovative electronic document management solutions and ongoing support to the RIA community, which are vital today in this increasingly stringent and competitive environment."
